

SuperVision

live case scenario

SuperVision tells the story of several managers coping with the problems of management—tardiness, body odor, people not working at their workstation, people not attending meetings, and managing employees who are older. A series of short vignettes peopled with recurring characters provides the storyline of managers unsuccessfully and successfully coping with the challenges of managing.

*"Thank you very much for your excellent presentation. [It] provided a new view of management and really let us get involved in the management process."
Training Manager, Major Accounting Firm*

learning objectives

- Learning the hands-on issues supervisors/managers face
- Understanding the importance of "walking the talk"
- Learning to identify the critical issues in poor performance
- Learning how to have "tough performance conversations"
- How to manage a workforce who are peers program format suitable for Standard or talk show format

- Meetings
- Training Seminars
- Conventions
- Retreats
- Luncheons
- Dinners